

Kuljit Bhogal

called: 1998
education: LLB Law (Hons)

clerk: Elliot Langdorf

Kuljit undertakes most forms of local government work and has particular expertise in judicial review, housing, community care and landlord and tenant.

Kuljit also has a growing planning and regulatory law practice.

She has experience of appearing in the High Court, Court of Appeal, the Court of Protection, planning inquiries and the LVT.

She acts for a wide range of local authority and private clients

In addition to her practice Kuljit regularly provides seminars and training to her wide client base and is a regular speaker at chambers' seminars. Recent topics have included 'Appeal proof homelessness decisions', 'Defending Disrepair Claims' and 'ASBO's: when to apply and practical drafting hints'.

Kuljit was called to the Bar in 1998. She undertook her pupillage in chambers and practised as a barrister at 199 Strand before re-joining chambers in September 2006.

Environment

Kuljit Bhogal

Kuljit has an excellent understanding of the needs and practices of local authorities and she is committed to public sector work.

Examples of recent work include:

- Disputes concerning noise nuisance, she has prosecuted actions pursuant to the Environmental Protection Act
- Crack house closure orders, and connected proceedings relating to possession, ASBOs and ASBIs.

Cases:

R (on the application of Chiltern District Council) v Wren Davis Ltd [2008] EWHC 2164 (Admin)

Costs ordered against local authority who successfully appealed the costs order - there was no unreasonable conduct by the authority It was inappropriate to deprive a local authority of its costs on an appeal against an abatement notice where the local authority had reasonably pursued its statutory duty at public expense and had succeeded in contesting the appeal. The local authority had not acted unreasonably in failing to discuss time limits for compliance with a recipient of the notice where the recipient had not accepted the validity of the notice. (Click here for full text)

Publications

Cracking down on disruption

Cracking down on disruption SJ 153/7 (24 February 2009)

Click here for full text

Neighbour hell: Is this the end for disruptive residential premises?

Neighbour hell: Is this the end for disruptive residential premises?, NLJ 27 July 2007, 1075

Click here for full text

Associations

- Member of the ASB Forum at Scotland Yard
- Founding supporter of Social Housing Lawyers Association (SHLA)

Kuljit Bhogal

- Administrative Law Bar Association (ALBA)